

It's There in Black and White (Now Available)

Ben Giselbach
August 28, 2020

Reading Time: 2 minutes

Scriptural Answers to 37 Questions People are Asking about Racial Tension in the Church

If you've tired of reading all the latest resources on racial tension that tout Critical Race Theory or human wisdom with a Christian veneer as the solution to our problems, here's a book that you may find truly refreshing. This book is written on the premise that Jesus is the answer to racial tension, that the Bible is sufficient as our instruction manual, and that the church as designed by God is the solution.

This book is for the church — not the world. The world does not know Jesus, and thus will always be plagued with the darkness of racism, along with all other sins. Yet among the church, the blood of Jesus is enough to fix the problem. All Christians must do is apply the principles found in His last will and testament. Congregations of His church should be places of serenity—a taste of paradise comprised of Christians who love, laugh, and assume the best about one another.

Us four authors—Hiram Kemp, Melvin L. Otey, Glenn Colley, and myself—proceed to tackle 37 questions we identified as being most pertinent. Take a look at what we we selected:

TABLE OF CONTENTS

AUTHORS' PREFACE 1

GLOSSARY OF KEY TERMS 3

Section 1

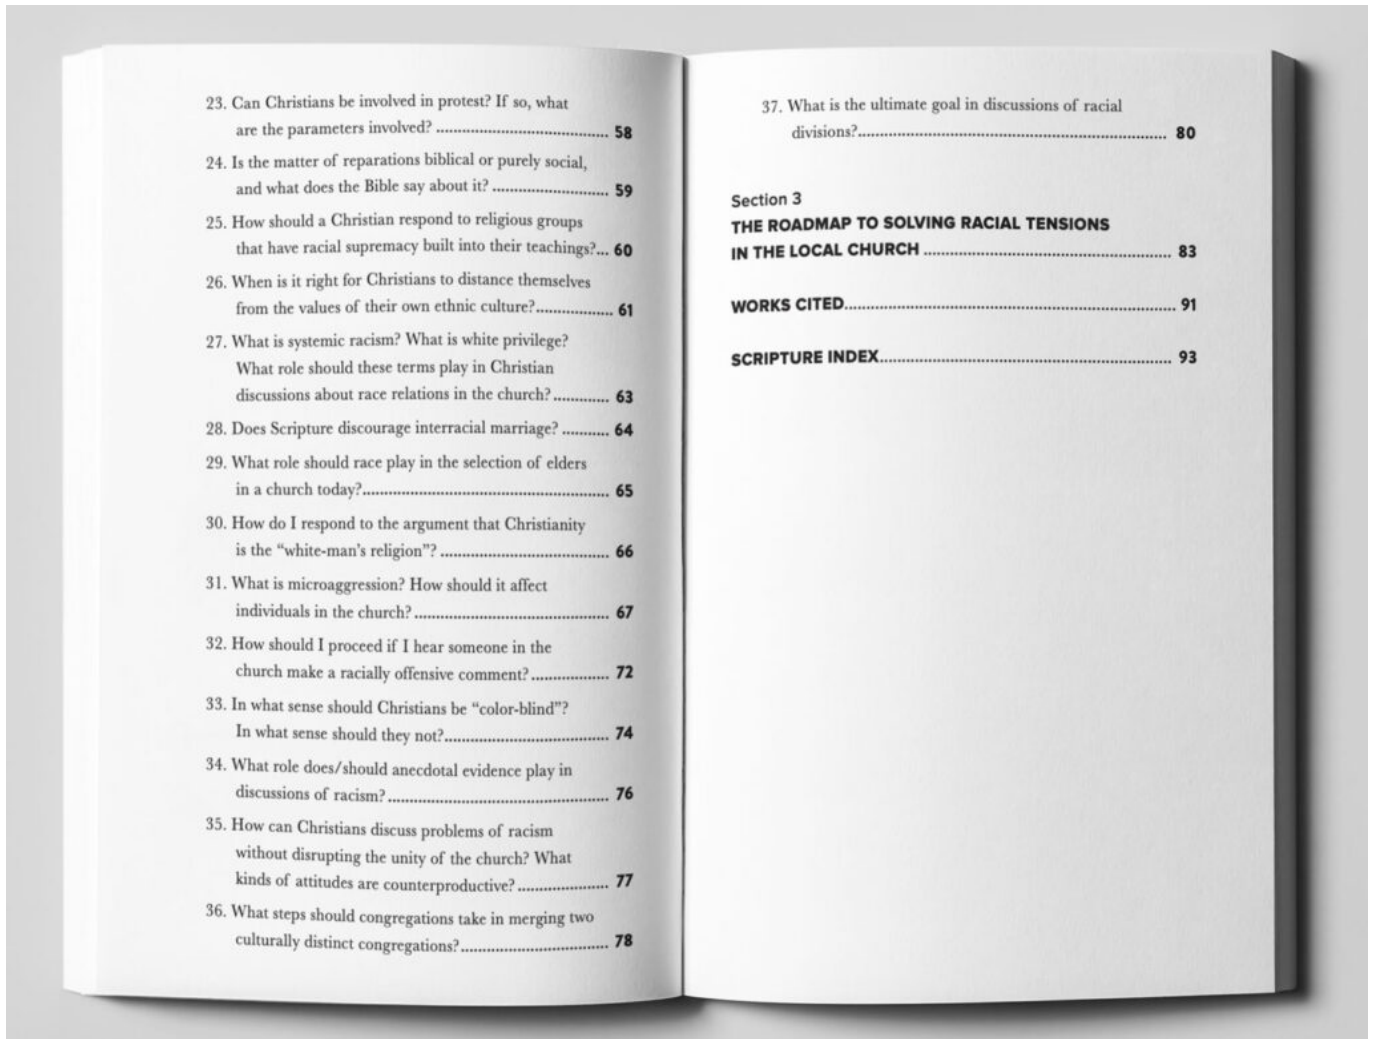

A LOOK AT OUR DIVERSE EXPERIENCES 5

Section 2

37 QUESTIONS PEOPLE ARE ASKING 12

1. What is race? 13
2. What is racism? 14
3. Is racism just a "black" vs. "white" problem? 17
4. What words of Jesus in the gospel accounts have a bearing on prejudice/racism today? 18
5. At what point does a man or woman become more committed to his or her race than to Christianity? 20
6. What distinguishes a racist Christian from one who is not? 22
7. What is the difference between cultural preference and racism? 24
8. How were racial problems handled in the first century church? Why should/shouldn't those solutions be our

- pattern for today? 26
9. Is racism a problem in the church today? 35
10. Are church leaders commonly sweeping the history of racism under the rug today? 37
11. Weren't some of the great leaders of the Restoration Movement racist? 38
12. Are Christians guilty of being inconsistent in how we deal with racism? 40
13. Should Christians today repent and apologize for racial prejudices both past and present? 41
14. Where do we draw the line between cultural preference and scriptural authority? 43
15. Is it wrong for there to be a predominantly "white church" and "black church" in the same city? 45
16. How should Christians view "Critical Race Theory" in pursuing improved race relations? 47
17. What does the Bible say about slavery? 49
18. Is all slavery the same? 51
19. Is abortion, as promoted in the U.S. today, an example of racism? 52
20. Should Christians in the worship assembly celebrate leaders in the historical American Restoration Movement, MLK Jr. Day, Black History Month, or other national public figures? 53
21. Is it okay to sometimes speak in broad generalities about people groups? 54
22. To what extent can Christians be involved in social activism? In civil disobedience? 55

As Satan uses racial tension to destroy relationships in the church, this book might help you better find the Bible’s path to restoration. You may find this book especially helpful if you have struggled to find adequate balance on the subject. Some congregations are even using this as a class book.

The four of us would probably say that writing this book together was a growing process for each of us. I know it was for me. Though challenging at times, we finished this project with a greater friendship with one another. Isn't that the goal? For people who have a shared love for God's word to be able to discuss this issue and grow in love for one another.

Order your copy here.

NOTE: For BULK purchases of 12 books or more, send an email to ben@plainsimplefaith.com for a special rate